Outfox the Fox

A solo gamebook sample

"Pick any empty square," says Fox. "I particularly like the one you're looking at." Owl opens one eye. She will play you, too.

Choose your animal

You play X. Fox or Owl plays O. Pick one opponent and follow the same animal until the match ends.

Fox Owl

Pick a square

Choose any empty square. A single address takes you straight there. If the square has two addresses, read the one beside your animal's name.

Read the page number first, then find the panel letter on that page. Your X and the animal's O are already on the new board. If your X ends the game, the animal stops there.

Three in a row across, down or diagonally wins. A full board with no winning line is a draw.

Columns run A to C across the page. Rows run 1 to 3 down. Your starting position has X at A1 and C2, O at B1 and B2. X to play.

Start at panel 3A.

The referee's index

The victory calls

One last mark can finish two lines. The referee calls the first one in this list.

Another round?

Go back to the starting panel. Give the other animal the same opening move. Watch where its O lands.
